1.3.1 My Story

As the founder of ElitePro, my entrepreneurial journey began with a vision to revolutionise the IT professional services and outsourcing industry. I recognised a gap in the market for a service that could provide small and medium-sized businesses with cost-effective, yet high-quality IT solutions. I was driven by the desire to help these businesses optimise their costs without compromising on the quality of services they receive. This was the spark that ignited the creation of ElitePro.

Our unique business model is centred around assembling a team of highly skilled professionals based in South America. I saw an opportunity to tap into the wealth of talent in this region and utilise their expertise to deliver top-notch services to our clients. By leveraging the skills and knowledge of our team, we aim to provide services that not only meet, but exceed the expectations of our clients. This is a key differentiator for ElitePro and a cornerstone of our business strategy.

At ElitePro, we are committed to excellence and cost-effectiveness. We believe that by focusing on these two aspects, we can become a valuable partner for companies looking to enhance their operations. We understand the challenges that small businesses face in today's competitive business landscape, and we are here to provide the support they need to thrive. Our goal is to contribute significantly to the growth and success of these businesses by providing them with top-tier IT services and solutions.

Our venture is driven by the belief that by harnessing the talents of our dedicated team in South America, we can make a significant difference in the IT professional services and outsourcing industry. We are excited about the future and look forward to continuing to provide our clients with the high-quality, cost-effective services they need to succeed. Structure & Ownership

ElitePro will be legally structured as a Limited Company. This structure offers numerous benefits for our business. Firstly, it provides us with limited liability, meaning that our personal assets are protected in the event of any financial difficulties. Secondly, it enhances our professional image and credibility in the IT professional services and outsourcing industry. Lastly, it offers us the opportunity for tax efficiency, as we can manage our income and dividends in a way that minimises our tax liabilities. However, ElitePro has not yet been incorporated and registered with Companies House. This is a necessary step we will undertake to formalise our business structure and gain the benefits associated with being a Limited Company.

1.4.1 Shareholders

At ElitePro, we are pleased to announce that Mau will hold complete ownership of the business, possessing 100% of the shares. This means that all decisions, profits, and overall direction of the company will be under Mau's control.
